

To the FCC:

is saturday night, you're watching a movie with your wife and kids, eating popcorn, and all of the sudden the phone rings, and what is it? is some stupid telemarketer trying to sell me something and trying to push it on me after i told hime at least 2 or 3 times, politely, "NO THANK YOU" i don't want to be bother with anyone calling my house to sell me anything, if i want to buy anything i will go to the store. i don't want to be called 3 or 4 times a day with somebody trying to sell me LONG DISTANCE Calling. And you're trying to weaken the NO CALL LAW, i see it as invasion of privacy, intruding, I do have the right to privacy don't I, so if i am one who doesn't want to be bothered at home with lousy sales call, i should have the right to say i don't want lousy sales call made to my home.
